GENTLENESS PICTURED.

A GENTLE creature was that girl, Meek, humble, and subdued; Like some lone flower that has grown up In woodland solitude.

Its soil has had but little care Its growth but little praise; And down it droops the timid head It has not strength to raise. For other brighter blooms are round, And they attract the eye; They seem the sunny favorites Of summer, earth and sky-The human and the woodland flower Hath yet a dearer part.— The perfume of the hidden depths,

The sweetness at the heart.

LETTERS FROM ABROAD TO KINDERD AT HOME. By the Auth Hope Lesfie, 'Live and Let Live,' &c. 2 vols, Harper &

Sedgwick half apologizes in the Preface for giving these volumes to the public, but she should not have done it. It is true enough that her Tour of Eur pe was made on the beaten track of travelers, but that matters not. Tho-ver practically realized till our day-is never for of the human family is a brother or sister-neithalace, the nabob's mansion, the slaughman's cottage, or the beings. And it is this warm and genial sympathy with he kind universally which fits her preeminently for an observe -say rather, an instructor-whether narrating the history of ome poor and humble family or sketching the notabilities of instance, we hardly need say. We have already published extracts; from proof-sheets furnished in advance of the put lication of the work, and these have been widely copied read and admired. Even in England-where the philosophy of life whereof Miss Sedgwick is a possibly unconsciouapostle, is hardly understood-this work, appearing simultaneously with the American edition, is heartily praised. It is, indeed, objected that she has spoken too freely of the persons and places she visited in that country, but this is absurd squeamishness. While in society it is the universal practice to talk of the ball, the soirce or the suppor of last evening, it is idle to say that good breeding prohibits us to write on similar subjects. Of course, there is a way of of fending against good taste and the obligations of hospitality in this matter; but the complaint is not that she has treated those she met and visited offensively, but that she spoke for miliarly of them at all. This is preposterous.

Miss S. landed in England in June, 1839, spent a mon in England (mainly in the vicinity of London) thence by Ant werp and the Rhine to Switzerland, across the Alps to Italy and after visiting Turin, Milan, Rome, Naples and Florence kome again. But we will not thread minutely the winding of a journey which most of our readers will find an early opportunity to trace for themselves.

The style in which these volumes are issued does credit t

Confusion of Names .- We have remarked that men of intelligence are often misled by the circumstance that there are Members of Congress of opposite politics but similar names, and fall into gross errors. Thus one friend says to us "What does Kennedy mean by opposing the Bank Bill?" -confounding John P. Kennedy, Whig from Baltimore, with Andrew Kennedy, Opposition from Indiana. It may be worth while to put this matter straight in a parograph, which our readers may preserve for reference: There are two Allens in Congress: William Allen, Opp. Senator from Ohio, and Elisha H. Alles, Whig Member from Maine. Two Andrewses in the House: Landoff W. Andrews from Kentucky, and Sherlock J. Andrews from Ohio-both Whigs. There are four Browns in the House: Jeremiah Brown of Pa. and Milton Brown of Tenn. Whigs. and Charles Brown of Pa. and A. V. Brown of Tenn. Oppo sition. Three Butlers in the House: Wm. Butler of S. 98 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

I The Teeth, though the hardest animal substance, yield soonest to treatment, good or bad. They are easily spoiled, and by judicious treatment easily preserved. It is no vain beast of he skilful Dentist, that discases of the Teeth are ordinarily subject to his con role in deed it may be regarded as settled in the public mind, that judicious treatment secures their permanence. The Teeth, composed subtantially of lime, are of course easily decomposed by acids, and oxygen being the base of acids, we are led to two important facts in the preservation of the Teeth.

1st. Keep acids out of the mouth, and every thing out of the stemach that generates secies there, and your health and Teeth are comparatively safe.

2d. Keep every thing out of the mouth that attracts oxygen, and this fer three reasons:

1st. Oxygen being the base of acids, renders the secretion of the mouth doubly acrid, and thus the destruction of the Teeth is hastened. VENTILATION .- Truth's Receipt for purifying houses, in the Tribune of the 7th instant, is altogether wrong, as the reflection. The only receipt that can be confided in, is to seep your cellars, closets, &c clean and well ventilated. Let all decaying vegetable and animal matter be removed, and let all the apartments be kept dry as possible. A little unslacked Lime may be sprinkled about the cellar and other lamp places. Too much attention cannot be paid to having ir, as upon that we live more than upon our food, and

1st. No acids will ever be used for cleaning the Teeth. All tooth powders should contain a moderate alkah.

2d. All operators on the Teeth, who use mineral pastes or fusible metals, all of which are composed of metals having strong affinity for oxygen, should be shunned; thur boasted remodies are far worse than the discuss they promise to cure.

3d. All combinations of metals, such as Tin, Gold, Silver, Platina, &c., should be carefully avoided. The purest metals differ in affinity for exygen, and of course produce gulvanic action when plut together in the same nouth. Fine Gold is the coly metal that should ever find a lotgenest in the human mouth, and to this conclusion every scientific Dentist must nevitably court.

No Dentst can concritetify oppose the use of an amalgam of mercury and giver, whilst he is himself in the hubit—as is at present almost every Bentiat in the Union—of using amalgams of Platina, Gold, Silver, Copper and Zinc, under the name of "Gold Plates." DR. ASHER ATKINSON'S
BOWEL COMPLAINT SYRUP,
A dres, Diarrhura, Dysentery, or Bloody Flex, Looseness of the Sowels, Cholera Morbus, Tenesmus, Consumption of the Intestines, &c.—Dr. A. has the pleasing satisfaction to inform the public, that has used his Bowel Complaint Syrup in his private practice nearly ten years; during that time he has had extensive opportunities witness its happy influence in between five laundred and one thousand cases, and it gives him great pleasure to state, that he has never known it to feil where the directions have been fully adhered to, except in five or six of Consumption of the Lungs that have terminated in Diarrhum, even then it has given essential relief, and rendered his temments of the sufferer comparatively comfortable; such being the fact, he would respectfully call the attention of Physicians particularly, and the Public generally, to this highly important remedy.

Dr. A is fully persuaded in his own mind that if his Bowel Complaint Syrup should be used in every instance where such a Medicine is required, that it would lessen the Infantile Bill of Mortality at least two thirds, and he has no doubt when Physicians and Parent become acquainted with the effects of this pleasant remedy that they will be of the same opinion.
